

Certificate in Engagement – Public Training (NZ)

Released in 2014, the Certificate in Engagement was developed to bring an Australian and New Zealand context to community and stakeholder engagement training. Very quickly the Certificate is becoming the standard that employers are looking for in staff who work in, or manage, community and stakeholder engagement.

With new concepts, new tools and with solid foundations in existing practice, the Certificate will support all levels of experience and learning, varied roles in engagement and management across multiple sectors.

Our training is suitable for participants from all tiers of government, social service / health agencies, infrastructure organisations, engineers and planners, community and member organisations, and any organisation or person that needs to engage with others

- ✓ First time engagers
- ✓ Engagement practitioners
- ✓ Managers / CEO's
- ✓ Community organisation members/leaders
- ✓ Engineers, Planners and Designers
- ✓ Communications, Marketing and PR professionals
- ✓ Decision makers and elected members

There are multiple pathways to attain the Certificate in Engagement, as shown below.
